the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased by 1.5 million (1990–1999) and is projected to increase by a further 1.5 million by 2020 (1999–2020).

There is a growing awareness of the need to develop strategies to meet the needs of the ageing population. The Department of Health (1999) has identified the need to develop a 'new paradigm' for the care of the elderly.

The Department of Health (1999) has identified the need to develop a 'new paradigm' for the care of the elderly. This paradigm is based on the following principles:

• The elderly should be seen as a resource, not a burden.

• The elderly should be seen as individuals, not as a group.

• The elderly should be seen as active citizens, not as passive recipients of care.

• The elderly should be seen as a source of wisdom and experience, not as a source of problems.

• The elderly should be seen as a source of strength and resilience, not as a source of weakness.

• The elderly should be seen as a source of joy and happiness, not as a source of sorrow.

• The elderly should be seen as a source of pride and dignity, not as a source of shame.

• The elderly should be seen as a source of hope and optimism, not as a source of despair.

• The elderly should be seen as a source of love and compassion, not as a source of hatred.

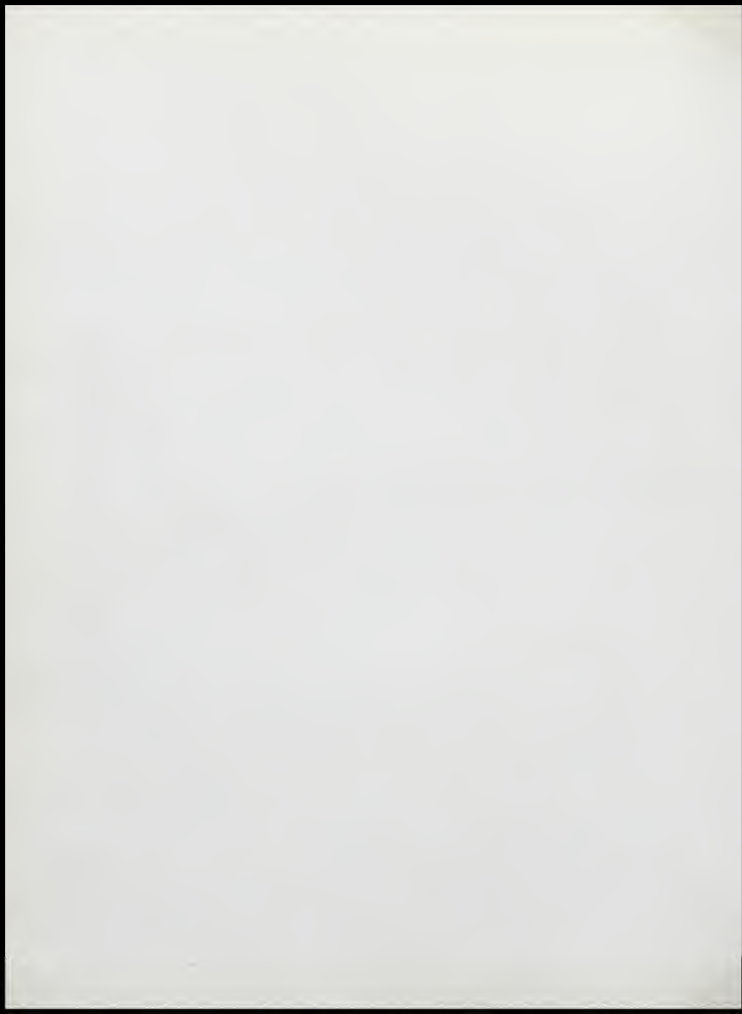

• The elderly should be seen as a source of faith and belief, not as a source of doubt.

• The elderly should be seen as a source of courage and bravery, not as a source of fear.

• The elderly should be seen as a source of wisdom and knowledge, not as a source of ignorance.

• The elderly should be seen as a source of strength and resilience, not as a source of weakness.

• The elderly should be seen as a source of joy and happiness, not as a source of sorrow.

Thriving on Chaos

BUSY, CRAZY, EXCITING, HECTIC, AND STRESSFUL DESCRIBED OUR CHAOTIC LIVES OVER THE PAST YEAR. WE WERE BUSY TRYING TO FIT EVERYTHING IN. THERE WAS SO MUCH TO DO AND SO MUCH WE WANTED TO BE A PART OF, BUT THERE WAS NOT ENOUGH TIME. WE WERE BUSY WITH SPORTS, CLUBS, CLASSES, HOMEWORK, PARTIES, DANCES, MOVIES, DATES, WORK, FRIENDS, AND FAMILY OBLIGATIONS, BUT WE LOVED OUR HECTIC SCHEDULES. WE FELT ALIVE AND FREE TO CHOOSE THOSE THINGS IN WHICH WE WANTED TO BE INVOLVED. YES, OUR LIVES COULD BE CALLED CHAOTIC, EVEN CRAZY, BUT WE WERE THRIVING ON THE CHAOS AND ENRICHING OUR LIVES WITH EACH NEW EXPERIENCE.

Thriving on Life

It was a time of change, or at least we hoped for change. A new president, Bill Clinton took office in January replacing Incumbent President George Bush. In the school elections, Clinton had been the favored winner. He gave the country hope for a better future with his talk of government reform, deficit balancing, improved educational opportunities and more jobs. We wanted to believe that the "real world" held promise for a bright and happy future. In the mean time though, we intended to enjoy the years we had left in high school by thriving on life.

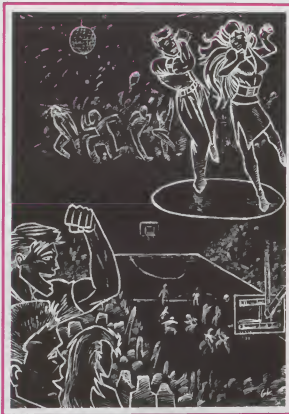

The first opportunity we had for fun included the homecoming festivities. We painted the town windows, participated in the parade, put on an outdoor pep session with an animal theme, attended the dance, crowned a king and queen, and beat Munster in the football game. Next, we prepared the school with spirit competitions and activities for the football sectional, and we managed to bring home the title of Sectional Champions for the first time. Then for our entertainment, the drama club produced Don't Drink the Water, a comedy, which won rave reviews from ev-

Basketball season brought out our school pride and spirit as we attended Friday and Saturday night. What a year, we thought, two sectional wins, WOW! As we moved into spring, many of us joined the musical group which performed Guys and Dolls. If we weren't fortunate enough to be in the production, we caught the excitement of our friends who were. The production was a sold out affair with excellent reports from all who saw it.

Prom time was just around the corner and we were deciding who to go with, what to wear, which parties to attend, where to have dinner, and for some of us, which limousine service to hire. It turned out to be a magical, romantic evening; one we would remember for a lifetime. Finally, the end of school arrived. We finished out final exams, and looked to the future. Graduation ceremonies were a time of mixed feelings. We were happy to have finally met the goal we set so long ago, but it was sad to say good-bye to friends, and thinking about the future was pretty scary. None of us knew what tomorrow would bring, but we had learned to take advantage of the good times.

eryone. The holidays quickly approached and we became caught up in the spirit of gift giving, attending parties, visiting friends and family, and taking our dates to the Christmas dance. We were even blessed with a white Christmas. We were truly enjoying ourselves and thriving on our social lives.

Second semester began as we prepared for the long cold winter months ahead.

Saturday night games and the dances afterwards. Then, the big event was upon us: Sectional time. We dressed up each day, decorated the school, screamed at the pep session, and made our way to the Kankakee Valley Gym with high hopes of winning. We were not disappointed as we beat KV in the first game advancing to the finals and brought home another Sectional win on

DEFEAT HIGHLAND ANNOUNCING, WE'RE

Back in Black

We were pumped. Simply said, that's exactly what was happening the week of Homecoming. Everyone was ready for the final game of the season, and did it ever show!

Homecoming festivities broke loose with the annual Spirit Week. We had the big commons decorating contest, and of course, who could forget the dress up days? No spirit week would or could be without one! Dress-up days included the hat-and-sunglasses day, toga day, college-logo day, back-in-black day, and... (what kind of school would we be without?). . . school color day. The winners of spirit week were the seniors (BIG surprise there, huh?).

Court included seniors Jeff Funston and Brandy Replin, Rob Balfanz and Kristie Childress, and Erin Seydel and Chris Cook. Junior court included Brian Hughes and Brandi Cross, and Luke Shipley and Megan Brown. Representing the sophomores were Mike Loggins and Carrie Damian. Last but not least were Jeremy Gard and Jeanie Blend representing the freshmen.

One change this year was the annual Homecoming pep session. Since the Homecoming Parade included animals, the pep session took place outside on the football field. Even though it was windy and cold, everyone chilled out and cheered on the team to a 21-14 victory!

After a grueling two weeks of wondering who would win king and queen, Chris Cook and Erin Seydel took the crowns.

Dance the Night Away

Cold weather didn't stop the ladies from attending the "Back in Black" homecoming dance in strapless dresses with short hemlines. Purple, black, and turquoise were the most popular colors worn by both guys and girls. Dean of Students Mr. Koger expressed his surprise at how wonderful everyone looked. He said, "They sure do clean up well."

The "rubber room," transformed to a mini-night club with its red and black balloons, subdued lighting, and cozy tables brought dancers out in droves each time a slow romantic song was played. The disc-jockey finally got the hint when only a few danced to the upbeat rap songs, and no one except the teachers danced to I'm Shameless, by Garth Brooks. He continued to play slow rock as the couples moved in harmony beneath the low lights.

Senior Sharise Horsley started a line dance, the electric slide, as the disc jockey played Bus Stop. Several students joined in, and those who didn't know the steps, attempted to learn. "I had never done the dance before and even though I felt like an idiot, I was a rebel and tried anyway," said Sophomore Shawnee Piatt. During one song, Baby Got Back, by Sir Mix A Lot, foreign exchange student and Senior Klaus Nielson demonstrated how they dance in Denmark. Several students were impressed with his performance. I was surprised Klaus could dance so well," said Senior Steve Fredrick.

About midway through the evening, the homecoming court paraded through the crowd. Homecoming Queen Erin Seydel and King Chris Cook danced the traditional solo as the crowd gave them a round of applause.

Students reported having a terrific time. "It was a night to remember," said Sophomore Ann Searle. Freshman Tom Feddler also enjoyed the dance. "Both my date and I had a really good time," he said.

IGHTS, CAMERA, ACTION

Drama Club members performed the Woody Allen play Don't Drink the Water in the Little Theatre on November 6, 7, and 8 to an attentive audience full of parents, students and faculty members. The play captured rave reviews from the Lowell Tribune and from Drama Club Sponsor Ms. Lynn Engle. "This was by far the most talented group of students I have ever worked with," she said.

The action of the play took place in an American Embassy in 1972 somewhere behind the Iron Curtain. The Hollander family, while on vacation, is mistaken for a spy team and forced to seek asylum to avert capture in the American Embassy. While living in the embassy, many humorous incidents take place.

Senior Regina Cox played wife and mother Marion Hollander. She was described by Junior Missy Flores as being "a nervous, busybody who was quite eccentric and strange." Senior David Morris took the role of husband and father Walter Hollander. Junior Brian Sherwood thought Morris was terrific. "He did a great job of being obnoxious, sarcastic and rude." Susan Hollander, the daughter, played by Senior Heather Climer falls in love with Axel Magee (Senior Todd Pflughoef), the son of American Ambassador Magee. Axel attempts to run the embassy while his father is away, but has quite a bit of difficulty according to Junior Betsy Vance. "His character was hilarious to watch. Axel was clumsy and scatterbrained."

Other characters contributed to the comic effect as well. Krojack, played by Junior Daniel Hein, headed the communist police and was intent on capturing the Hollander family. His eye-piece, black leather knee boots and spy cap, fit the stereotypical Russian KGB agent. Also, Senior Jim Suggs as Kilroy delighted the audience each time he entered the set. "Everybody laughed because he dressed in bright, plaid colors, walked like a girl, and reminded us of the stereotype of a fag," said Junior Shawna Cales. In addition, Freshman Derek Brummet played Father Drobney, a combination priest/magician and escape artist who could not get out of a straight jacket.

The rest of the cast included Misty Shepperd as Secretary Burns, Julia Holloway as the cook, Mike McIntosh as the Sultan, Trisa Hamm as the Sultan's wife, Mike Pate as Kasnar, Nikki Echterling as Countess Bardoni and Bambi Taylor as the rabbit. Many other drama club members also donated many long hours behind the scenes according to Ms. Engle.

Red Devil Football Beats
Munster's Mustangs 9-7 to Win
First Time Title of

SECTIONAL CHAMPIONS

Hundreds of fans stormed the field after the biggest win in Red Devil football history. After Freshman Dan Hudak's 39-yard first period field goal, the team took the lead and kept it, winning the sectional championship title by 2. The final score against Munster was 9-7.

In the third quarter with 1:50 to go, Junior Quarterback Paul Lacy threw a touchdown pass to Senior Burt Meier bringing the score to 9-0. Munster came on strong in retaliation when Ryan Pope stopped Junior Brian Swisher's punt and recovered at the Lowell 23 with 3:00 remaining in the game. Munster then scored a touchdown from a yard out at 1:49 and made the point after bringing the score to a close 9-7.

Fans and team members held hands in fear of losing in the last minute when Munster attempted and completed an onside kick. One Mustang player booted the ball a good three or four feet before it had traveled the necessary 10 yards, but the officials missed the call. "That bad call on the onside kick threw me, but I knew we'd hold them," said Junior Justin Nestor. Munster took possession of the ball at the 40 with a minute to go and made four straight incomplete passes thanks to a tough Red Devil Defense. Interim Coach Brad Stewart said, "If we could just take time off the clock, we knew we'd be in good position because they hadn't really moved the ball on us all night. We felt confident we could stop them."

All chaos broke loose after the buzzer sounded as fans left the bleachers to congratulate the team. Players, coaches, parents, teachers, and students hugged, shouted "we're number one," and cried tears of joy. "This has been the most fun of my life," said Meier. "I've been pinching myself since this game's been over."

The team said Coach Kirk Kennedy, who was in the hospital, helped them to win. "The coach's absence affected us during the Lake Central game and part of the Highland game," said Junior Brian Terpstra. "But we pulled together and did what he taught us."

OUNG WOMAN OF THE YEAR

As the lights died down, eighteen anxious young women took the stage. This was the one night after many long and tiring practices that they would present themselves to a waiting panel of judges and an audience full of friends and proud parents. When the lights dimmed for the last time at the end of the evening, one girl was named 1992-1993 Young Woman of the Year: Charity Ramsey.

The Young Woman of the Year contest, sponsored by the Business and Professional Women of Indiana, is a scholarship program to encourage young women striving to pursue a career. Individual contests winners included Tracey Lewis, who won Fitness; Regina Cox, who took Presence and Composure; Nikki Echterling and Amanda Laumeier, who both won Creating and Performing Arts; Lynn Lammons, who took the Scholastic Achievement award and Charity Ramsey, who captured the Panel Evaluation.

The girls were judged on their fitness level, grace and composure, academic achievement, performing arts ability, and articulation ability.

Josephine Bank, Julie Bauman, Jennifer Becze, Heather Ham, Bonnie Haviland, Heather Hitzeman, Jennifer Jung, Cynthia Koppen, Tricia Kyle, Amy Wenckus, and Dawn Zancan also competed.

SANTA'S VISIT, HOLIDAY CAROLS,
CANDYLAND DANCE, FREEZING TEMPERATURES, AND SNOW COMPLETE THE

DREAM OF A WHITE CHRISTMAS

The students counted down the days until Christmas Break, and it came and went all too soon. Christmas festivities were alive, and before we all knew it, Christmas was over! But in the meantime, we all had a blast.

During the week before break, Santa visited the school, as he always does, and delivered candy canes to teachers and students. Christmas music could be heard coming from many classrooms and the Holiday spirit was felt throughout the halls. The office staff, along with many teachers and students, decorated the building to add to the festive mood. Holly was draped on the South Commons stairway leading to a brightly lit tree at the top. "It's beginning to look a lot like Christmas," said English Teacher Debbie Hawkins.

The choir performed its annual Christmas concert singing such old favorites as Walking in a Winter Wonderland and Silent Night while Santa Claus waited in the Devils Commons so that the children attending the concert could give him their wish list. "Should we or shouldn't we?" That was the trivial question many couples asked on Saturday, December 19th, the day of the annual Christmas dance. The question was focused on the weather, which was quite uncooperative that day, and whether couples should chance it by traveling in the dangerous conditions. Snow and ice were everywhere, and the temperature was in the teens. Those daring couples who decided to go anyway mostly stayed in the area rather than driving all the way to Merrillville for dinner. Some decided to dine at home and just go to the dance. And then, some stayed home all night, probably more of their parents' decision than their own. The Devils Commons was decorated with candy and gingerbread, going along with the theme of "Candyland." Cotton candy hung from the ceiling and giant suckers were dotted throughout the room. The couples who did make it to the dance had a good time dancing to the music provided by the DJ.

All in all, the snow falling and the cold weather added to the holiday. We were all "dreaming of a white Christmas" and we got it. The roads were treacherous on the way home from the dance, but we all made it home safely and began the two week break from school we all desperately needed.

SECTIONAL CHAMPIONSHIPS

Every high school basketball player and fan in Indiana looks forward to the Indiana High School State Tournament, also known as March Madness. For Lowell High School players and fans this year was extremely special. The Lowell Red Devils won the 1993 Sectional Championship, beating Hebron 43-39.

The Devil's first opponent in this year's tourney was the Kankakee Valley Kougars. The Devils had a score to settle with the Kougars, as the Kougars had beaten the Devils in last year's Sectional Championship, 83-79 in double overtime. The Devils, with revenge on their minds, came out smokin' and jumped to a 7-0 lead. The Devils relinquished that lead only once in the game, early in the third quarter. But, Senior Jeff Dillingham took over from there and the Devils coasted to a 58-43 victory with Dillingham scoring 35 points.

Next up was Hebron. The Devils had defeated the Hebron Hawks 53-52 in regular season, so Hebron was out to avenge their loss. The game was close throughout, but in the fourth quarter Senior Joe Rogers took over scoring nine points in the final period. When the final gun sounded, the Devils had a 43-39 victory and the fans rushed the floor for a giant victory celebration that lasted all night.

EGIONAL CHAMPIONS

The Red Devils continued their domination of boys' major sports by winning the third sectional of the year and advancing to regional play where they defeated both opponents and became the first ever Lowell regional champs.

In the first game of the regional, the Devils upset defending state champion LaPorte in a close game 2-1. Senior Jeff Dillingham pitched a three hitter in the Saturday morning round. According to Coach Hess, Dillingham improved as the game progressed. "Jeff has been outstanding all year, and typically gets stronger as the game goes on," he said. The winning run of the game occurred when Senior David Hudak swung at a wild pitch that bounced past LaPorte's catcher. Hudak reached first base safely as Senior Anthony Wunsh found home making the score 2-1 in the sixth. Between Dillingham's fast pitches and good defensive plays by his teammates, the LaPorte team failed to score and the Devils took the game.

In the afternoon match against Valparaiso, Lowell held a 3-0 lead heading into the bottom of the fifth inning. Starting pitcher Anthony Wunsh had pitched an excellent game, but showed signs of fatigue when Valpo hit two in a row and scored. Coach Hess brought in Dillingham to replace Wunsh at the mound and Wunsh replaced Dillingham at third. Dillingham did not anticipate pitching in the game. He said, I was surprised because I thought I'd spend the whole game at third." He gave up two more runs which tied the score 3-3. In the sixth inning, Dillingham hit a single, seniors Jason Loggins and Mike Bielefeld were walked, and then Justin Gorbai hit, and Dillingham was forced out at home. Next, Senior Jim Suggs hit one that brought in Loggins making the score 4-3 and was followed by Junior Mike Buchler who whacked one over the fence bringing them all home and making the score 8-3. The Devils managed to get through the last two innings scoring one more and preventing Valparaiso from getting any runs winning the championship 9-3.

SIZZLING COMBINATION

"Guys and Dolls," the annual spring musical, was a comedy and love story with sinful gamblers and dutiful missionaries. The Cast, Crew, and Pit of "Guys and Dolls" worked hard to make the musical's production move smoothly. For five performances many LHS students exchanged their regular student lives for characters in the play.

"Guys and Dolls" started off when Nathan Detroit (Senior David Morris), a love stricken gambler, made a bet that Sky Masterson (Senior James Suggs), a well-known gambler in New York, could not take a dame to Havana. This dame was the wholesome and dutiful Sarah Brown who was portrayed by Senior Regina Cox. Sky Masterson accidentally fell in love with Sarah Brown and eventually married her. He convinced Nathan Detroit to marry his fiancée of 14 years, Miss Adelaide, played by Senior Heather Climer.

Old actors came together with new actors and put on a show that they will never forget. Climer said it was probably the most fun she had her whole senior year. The show was especially memorable to director Miss Lynn Engle because the senior actors were the first group of students that she had worked with for their whole four years of high school. Sophomore Jason Rastovski, a promising actor, returned to the stage and had to work hard to make his character, Benny Southstreet, come to life. Rastovski said that the hardest thing about getting ready for the play was all the practice needed to make the character alive.

GOOD TIMES THROUGH THE TEARS

In Your Eyes

"In Your Eyes" was the theme of the Junior/Senior Prom and the good time had by all was reflected in everyone's eyes. Sparkling grey, black, and white balloons floating aimlessly as centerpieces on each table brought an elegance to the room as couples entered Macedonia Hall in Crown Point on May 15 for a final evening together before graduation.

At 6:30, dinner was served. Much laughter could be heard around the room and students let go of their inhibitions and wildly danced to the heavy beat of rap and rock and roll. During the slow songs, the floor was filled with gently moving couples sharing a special intimacy.

As the night went on and anticipation built, the moment finally came for the traditional crowning of Prom King and Queen. The members of the court took the floor and the D.J. announced Erin Seydel and Jeff Funston as Queen and King. This was the first year that students cast ballots individually, rather than as couples, and this pair was a big surprise since they refused to dance together.

After a while, the shiny balloons floating in the top of the room slowly lost their energy and began to meander to the floor as the magic of the night started to fade. Couples began to leave and a once energy filled room suddenly became deserted. However, just because prom ended, did not mean the evening had to, as many students continued the celebration into the wee hours of the morning. Junior Brandee Borggren said, "I had so much fun, it will take me a whole year to recuperate before next year."

PROM NIGHT REACTIONS

Students reported enjoying their evening at the prom and many continued the celebration the next day going to several places with friends and their special someones. Each created their own special memories. Memories that would last a lifetime.

"The Prom was fun because it was a lot of dancing and I was with all of my friends," said Senior Jennifer Nichols.

"Prom was a good ending to a very hard year," said Senior Robert Riley.

"I was very surprised that I won Prom Queen. I didn't know what to say. I didn't think I'd get it because of the people I was up against. It was exciting," said Senior Erin Seydel.

"I thought they should have held the King and Queen ballots by couple instead of by individual so you could be with your boyfriend or girlfriend," said Senior Jeff Funston.

"Prom was an experience I will never forget. It was good because we are the class of '93 and together we had a blast," said Senior Shane Lawrence.

"The whole thing was a blast. The next day we went to Turkey Run and had even more fun," said Senior Jason Loggins.

"We went to Great America the day after prom and had a small car wreck on the way in Mike Buchler's car, but we still had a good time," said Junior Steffanie Schroeder.

"I went to prom with Heather Climer. It was fun and after at Post prom we all danced, played pool, and bowled. We made a special wish," said Senior Dave Morris.

"After the prom we continued the celebration. The next day, Justin (Gorball) and I went to Brookfield Zoo, then had dinner on a Ferry boat and took a carriage ride," said Senior Lora Koepke.

"Prom was great and the next day Matt Shumaker had a barbecue," said Senior Sarah Caldwell.

THE CLASS OF 93 PAVES

THE ROAD TO THE FUTURE

On Sunday, June 6, the graduating class appeared in the gymnasium for their commencement exercises. A day that each had looked forward with anticipation had finally arrived. Some graduates were excited, while others seemed uncertain, but after many years of school, they were all relieved that they had made it through. The ceremony began around 2 P.M. and in about an hour, the graduates had their diplomas.

The commencement began with the processional. Graduates made their way to the front while their proud relatives and friends watched. Next was the welcome and presentation of the colors performed by R.O.T.C. members. Then came the graduate addresses and musical presentations which finalized the occasion for many graduates. Clayton Doty gave a speech titled "Stand Alone" and Nikki Echterling gave one called "Highway to the Future." Chris Yeoman performed a song called "Believe" which he wrote to inspire seniors to have faith in their dreams. Nikki Echterling said, "I don't remember anything about the whole ceremony because I was so nervous."

After seniors received their diplomas and switched their tassels, they marched out of the isles and began to hug friends and family. It was an emotional time for most as they felt pride in their accomplishments, but anxiety about the future too. No longer would they be protected by the walls of Lowell High School. They were on their own and they realized nothing would ever be the same again....a new life had just begun.

GRADUATION VIEWPOINT

After the graduation ceremony, the students gathered with their families and friends. Many had mixed feelings about the whole ordeal. Some could hardly believe they had really graduated. Others talked of the future while many mentioned the things they would miss most about their high school years.

"I can't wait for college," said Sara Caldwell.

"It is sad to leave my friends, but I am looking forward to college," said Cindy Koppen.

"It's been a good four years. I will miss my friends a lot, but I am looking forward to the future," said Lynn Lammons.

"Even though we went through the ceremony, it still doesn't feel like I've graduated," said Nikki Echterling.

"The ceremony was depressing. I'll miss my friends and I hope I see them in the future," said Bonnie Haviland.

"Everybody told me how fast the years would go, but I didn't really believe them. Now I know what they meant," said Jennifer Jung.

"It still doesn't feel like I've really graduated. It just hasn't kicked in yet and it probably won't until my friends and I start to go our separate ways," said Melissa Irwin.

"I'm really glad to be out, but I'll miss baseball and the other sports," said Justin Gorbail.

Thriving on Clubs

The many clubs and organizations offered a variety of alternative activities for the student body. Students with an interest in the performing arts became part of drama, choir, pom poms, or band. Those with creative aptitudes engaged in projects sponsored by the art club or yearbook staff. Parties interested in academic achievements joined Spell Bowl, Academic Bowl, JETS, French Club, Spanish club or National Honor Society. Athletes sponsored the Lettermen's club, while those interested in getting a head start on future chosen careers involved themselves with Business Professionals of America, (BPA) Future Educators of America, (FEA) Future Farmers of America, (FFA) Technical Education Club, (TEC) or Vocational Automotive Club, (VICA). Opportunities to become involved in charity work were also available as the Sunshine Club and the Allstars both worked to help others. Future politicians were involved with the Student Council, Band were very active with their many school performances and sponsored many activities. The Allstars spent much of their time trying to encourage kids to stay off of drugs, and the Letterman's club helped promote athletics and athletic events.

Other clubs that achieved quite a bit included the academic bowl, spell bowl, and math club (JETS). Also the FEA and FFA held several meetings throughout the year.

All in all the clubs and organizations managed to help students get involved in their high school years and become a part of the life available to them. Many students belonged to more than one club, and some joined four or five. Others held offices in several clubs, played sports, achieved academic success, and managed to hold down part-time jobs. Yes, the clubs and organizations kept students extremely busy adding even more to their already hectic lives...but they seemed to enjoy it thriving on the chaos.

and those with military aspirations joined ROTC.

Many clubs were very active while others played a rather dormant role in the scheme of things. One of the most active clubs was the drama department as they performed a fall comedy and a spring musical. Also, Choir and competitions. ROTC members traveled to summer camp and spent much time marching at various parades and presenting the colors. They also raised the flag each morning. Art Club spent an immense amount of time painting the mural in the commons area and of course the student council and honor society

The Sunshine and Allstars Clubs set out to help children and the community and have fun with the members in their group. The Sunshine Club helped support many people that were in need, while the Allstars Club supported a drugfree high school environment. Both Clubs had many group activities where they got to know each other and enjoy themselves.

Sponsor Mrs. Debbie Hawkins and the Sunshine Club enjoyed having fun group activities and helping people in need. The club consisted of twenty-four girls, and Senior Lora Koepke was president. Helping out our school and community, the club bought the Academic Super Bowl Team's T-shirts and sang Christmas carols at the Lowell Healthcare Center. They also raised money to sponsor children in Chile. They also attended pizza and bowling parties, roller skating outings, and took a trip to Great America. Mrs. Hawkins said, "I enjoyed getting to know the members. They worked hard at Christmas to make things better for others."

The Allstars had successful bake sales to raise money for the club and did a number of activities. Those activities included visits to fourth grade students, attendance at conferences in Indianapolis and Greencastle, attendance at Operation Snowball in Crown Point, Red Ribbon Week, and a spirit week before prom and graduation. They also put on a program called Celebrate Life for the students who went to prom. Sponsor Sally Allen instituted the club for the purpose of preventing drug, alcohol, and tobacco use. She and club members showed kids that it is possible to have fun without drug use. Junior Shannon Bardwell said, "Allstars is a great way to show your disapproval of all drugs. It's also a lot of fun! We're "all stars" when we don't do drugs."

...EXHIBIT KNOWLEDGE

The Academic Super Bowl, Spell Bowl, and JETS Team combined learning with fun to develop students' intellectual and cooperative skills. The students enjoyed the competitiveness and the chance to learn a new field. All had fun, though not all won at competition.

The Academic Super Bowl, whose team captains were Cindy Koppen (Math), Sara Caldwell (Science), Anne Hawkins (English), Missy Flores (Fine Arts), David Koppers (Social Studies), and Robin DeMick (All Around), studied the topic of African Heritage to prepare for their competition at Wheeler High School. The team held study sessions for each area. Many students were on more than one team. Though there were no fund raisers, the Sunshine Club donated money for the team sweatshirts "It was an excellent learning experience combined with a lot of fun!" exclaimed Sophomore Robin DeMick.

The Spell Bowl, sponsored by Mrs.

McClellan, also practiced twice each week after school during the earlier part of the school year. The purpose was to promote interest in vocabulary development, to improve spelling skills, and to have fun through competitive events. Mrs. McClellan stated, "I enjoyed going through the word lists with students and seeing their curiosity about new words. I learned quite a few new ones myself!"

The JETS Team, or Junior Educational Technical Society, joined in interscholastic competition in engineering skills and aptitude. The winning teams' membership were offered scholarships to a summer engineering workshop at Valparaiso University and a chance to move on to the national level of competition. The Team's purpose was to encourage team work in academically competitive students and acquaint students with other capable students from other schools.

...BUILD FUTURE CAREERS

Two clubs provided a solid base for its members future careers. Those clubs included Future Farmers of America (FFA) and the Future Educators of America (FEA).

FFA, sponsored by Mr. Kevin Garling, consisted of about fifty members. Mr. Garling believed the club encouraged the development of organized recreational activities and strengthened agricultural leadership. Some of the club's activities included participating in the homecoming parade, holding an annual Christmas party, and hosting a pig roast for the faculty and staff.

The pig roast was held during the lunch periods in the technical education department. Faculty and staff members ate lunch in the small room set up with tables. The club also served cole slaw, bread, chips, and punch. Mrs. Hurt really enjoyed the pig roast. She said, "I think it unified the students and we (faculty members) got to reap the benefits by eating all of the delicious food." Senior Shane Lawrence added, "It was my first year in Ag. and an experience I'll never forget."

The FEA's purpose was to explore and develop an interest in teaching. This club, headed by one of the counselors, Mrs. Wood, provided its members with information on how to get into the teaching field. They also raised money for scholarships.

Once each year the members participate in "teacher aide for a day," where students actually get to practice teaching at the middle school and elementary levels. This year, Senior Lynn Lammons, who planned to attend Ball State and study education, taught in a special education class at Oak Hill. Junior Betsy Vance helped in a first grade classroom also at Oak Hill. She said, "I don't think I want to teach after all. They (the kids) all thought I was old and they ask me strange questions like if I was married or if I had kids."

BPA AND LETTERMEN CLUBS

...PROMOTE LEADERSHIP

The Business Professionals of America, or BPA, was directed toward business-oriented students, whereas the Letterman's Club was a club for athletes who had obtained one Varsity letter and who were interested in strengthening athletic programs.

BPA's 55 member club held many fund raisers to help raise money for club related social activities. The fund raisers also helped send the members to a state-wide contest. On January 23, the BPA team traveled to Chesterton for district contest. Of the 38 that went to contest, 12 went to state. State was held in Indianapolis on March 12-14. Brian Ward, a BPA member, made it to nationals in San Antonio, Texas. He placed 6th in Computer Specialists. The club officers, Jackie Cunningham, president, Brandi Replin, vice-president, Nikki Echterling, secretary, Amy Vinson, treasurer, and Troy Phillips, publicity, all did their fair share of work in making sure fund-raisers and candy sales went smoothly. Sponsor Ms. Nemeth said, "It was a very good year. We had good contest participation. Also this year we saw an increase in male membership which is good because everyone, regardless of gender, is involved with business or can have a career in business."

The Lettermen Club's 92 members dedicated themselves to building school spirit and pride in athletic programs and provided service to athletic groups. They also sponsored a Christmas gift program for underprivileged children. As club member Brian Terpstra said: "We all brought in little toys for kids that don't get any Christmas presents. I thought it was a great idea to help those little kids." Other club activities included raising money for scholarships and athletic equipment through the annual car wash and wax and by conducting a Sox and Cubs ticket raffle. Meetings were led by President Lori Korte, Vice-President Rex Ibarra, and Secretary Jenny McLean, with Eric Kyle giving up to date information on treasury. Sponsor Mr. Bales thought the Letterman's Club was productive in many aspects of the community.

...CELEBRATE FRIENDSHIP

Both the French Club and the Spanish Club provided yet another opportunity outside of the classroom for students to become familiar with other cultures.

The French clubs 60 members spent much of their time raising money by selling poinsettias, selling candy and having bake sales in the lunch room. According to Madame Nancy Carter, two of the fundraisers were great successes. The club raised money to fund their field trips and also to help pay for their bi-annual trip to French speaking countries.

The club also took time out of the busy school life schedule to enjoy friendships. They often had meetings where they played games or watched movies. Madame Carter thought the students had a great year. She said, "We had a good year. Our trip to the Art Institute in Chicago was a highlight."

The French club officers included President Shelly Kelm, Vice-President Eric Eszenyi, Secretary Debbie Zahler, and Treasurer Emma Feddeler.

Students in the Spanish Club also spent time raising money. They too used their earnings to plan for their bi-annual travel to a Spanish speaking country.

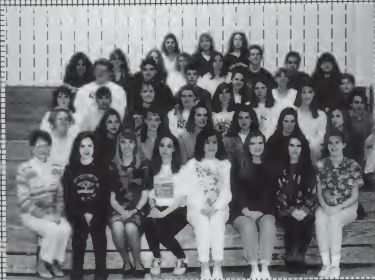

The club visited an authentic Mexican restaurant to learn more about the Hispanic culture, and they had a big Christmas party at Sponsor Nancy Mills' house. The party was held on January 6, since it is the traditional day that Hispanic children receive gifts from the three wise men. Junior Kristin Bardwell enjoyed the party very much. She said, "The Christmas party was fun. I had a great time."

The Spanish club officers included President Charity Ramsey, Vice-President Cindy Koppen, Secretary Jenn Jung, and Treasurer Rachel Buikema. Mrs. Mills wishes the club could have spent more time together. She said, "It was hard to find time to meet.. Everyone was so busy with sports, jobs and other activities."

...BUILDS CHARACTER

The passing year proved to be successful for both the National Honor Society and the Student Council. By sponsoring the annual blood drive and St. Jude's research, these clubs not only benefited the outside community, but the student body as well.

The National Honor Society sponsored a post-basketball game and computer dating dance in the multi-purpose room. The purpose of the dance was to cover induction costs and sponsor St. Jude Children's Hospital research. Sponsor Mr. John Anderson said, "Our club has been more active in past years, but our induction ceremony and dance were big successes."

NHS has also proved successful for the 34 members. NHS promotes character, scholarship, service, and leadership. Two-year member Sarah Kramer stated that, "The National Honor Society has served as an incentive for me to keep my grades at a level above average. I enjoy being part of a club which stresses academics and curricular involvement." Club officers included President Lynn Lammons, Vice-President Charity Ramsey, and Secretary/Treasurer Keith Cantwell.

Sponsor Mrs. Margaret Hurt was very pleased this year with her forty-three member council. Besides hosting the blood drive, they also organized a food drive during the holiday season, sponsored an angel from a Salvation Army Angel Tree, helped with freshmen and new student orientation, and sponsored the Homecoming dance. "The students this year have been very cooperative. I would like to see more activities for student council in the spring and greater communication between council members and the student body," said Mrs. Hurt. Also, Member Jenny McClean said, "Student Council was a lot of fun for me this year and I hope in the future, students will address student council members when they have a problem concerning school."

...SUPPORT PROGRAMS

Both the Technical Education Club (TEC) and the Vocational Automotive Technology Club (VICA) prepared students for a technologically advanced world.

TEC included all students involved in technical education courses. However, these students were represented by a technical education council made up of students. The group had 18 council members and they represented all the different aspects of the Technical Education program including electronics, drafting, woods, and small engines.

The purpose of the club, according to Sponsor Mr. James J. Kane, was to support all classes in the program, raise money for educational field trips, and purchase awards for outstanding students.

One special project that the club involved itself in was the design and manufacture of the technical education achievement award. This award was presented to graduating seniors who had earned six or more credits in technical education courses and had maintained a 3.5 grade point average in those classes. Mr. Kane believed the club had been more active in past years.

VICA's purpose was to promote skill and trade for auto repair according to Sponsor Bob Hatch. It also raised money through fruit sales and its annual tool box sale. Mr. Hatch said that the money earned was used to purchase equipment and tools for next year's classes. Also, the club purchased VCR mechanical training tapes. In May the club held an awards banquet to honor those students in the VICA classes.

The club officers included President Ben Cander, Vice-President Ryan Kennedy, Secretary Matt Eaton, and Treasurer Chad Rosenthal. All and all Mr. Hatch was pleased with the club and its activities. He said the club helped the auto program grow and he thought it was a good year. "We did some really excellent things," he said.

....PUT IN THE HOURS

The yearbook staff and the mural project both required hours of additional work for both students and sponsors involved, but both groups felt that all their after school time was worth it after seeing the finished products.

The yearbook staff wanted to produce a quality memory book which accurately represented 1993 school year. They started off with a run attending a yearbook workshop in Valparaiso and by December they had completed a very successful ad and book sales campaign. With this fund-raising success, the staff managed to raise enough money to get the yearbook out of debt. "It took a lot of hard work to raise the kind of money we needed, but the kids worked hard and we did it," said new Advisor Rhonda Overbeeke. Putting the book together required many after school hours for the small staff. "It took a special type of student to put a book together. . . one who was truly responsible, dependable, and creative. The editor, Kristin Bardwell was that kind of special student," said Advisor Overbeeke.

The mural project was a wonderful success according to the student body thanks to the efforts of sponsor Ursula Andrews and her fifteen aspiring artists. "The mural was a great improvement to the previous scenery in the lunch room," said Junior Gina Lorenz. The fifteen artists were chosen on the basis of a portfolio of work which the students submitted along with an essay explaining why they would like to participate in the project. All of the work was done after school. The Statue of Liberty and other American scenes, the rural community and city, that now grace the wall of Devil's Commons was the product of Theresa Michiels, Heidi Wenk, Julie Blend, Doug Snell, Andrea Kepes, Emma Burke, Ryan Michiels, and Leslie Lambert, who did most of the painting.

...ON THE STAGE

The drama department spent much of its time rehearsing and planning performances and raising money for needed equipment and repairs.

The fund-raiser was carried out by selling patron positions, which all members of the club were required to do. According to Miss Lynn Engle, club sponsor, the group met all of its goals. The purpose of the fund-raiser was to raise money to repair lights and the sound system, purchase costumes, and buy four wireless microphones.

The club had two major activities this year. They performed two extremely successful plays. One was a drama, performed in the fall called Don't Drink the Water and the other, a musical, performed in the spring called Guys and Dolls. The group performed the musical in conjunction with choir and band members. Both performances were huge successes and crowds of people from the school and the community filled up the Little Theatre.

Although only a few of the club members actually appeared on stage, the rest of the group spent immense amounts of time in the background. Students helped direct the plays and handled the lighting and sound equipment. They also served as ushers at the performances, changed stage settings, helped with costumes and make-up, and promoted the performances. Miss Engle was very happy about the year. She summed it up when she said, "Successful does not begin to describe this year at LHS. If there was a sectional, we would have been champions, too."

The very popular club consisted of a huge 165 members. Its officers were Senior Todd Pflughoeft, president; Junior Betsy Vance, vice president; Senior Reggie Cox, secretary; Senior Jeremy Steiber, treasurer; Senior Dave Morris, historian.

ROTC, an activity club and class designed to develop competitive, teamwork, and leadership skills as well as self-confidence and patriotism, included the Color/Honor Guard, Air Rifle Team, and Rocket Club.

Major Rinehart and Master-Sergeant Yedinak sponsored the clubs activities and fund-raisers. The group sold fruit, candy, and Pizza Hut coupons in order to support club activities, provide community donations and meet the cost of summer camps and other functions.

During the summer the group went to Black River State Forest in Wisconsin where they scaled a mountain, camped out, and conducted other military maneuvers and training drills. Aside from their summer camp expedition, students also participated in many community related programs including the Lowell parades, flag dedications, Christmas projects, Special Olympics, community clean-up projects, toy and food drives. In the winter the group attended a military ball where they wore their dress uniforms. Members also practiced rocket launches, and held rifle shooting competitions, and in May the corps even took a field trip and had the opportunity to fly in military airplanes.

Each morning it was common place to see the soldiers dressed in uniform march to the flag pole in front of the building and raise the American flag. It was a tradition with the members and the student body.

With the various activities involved in ROTC, students reported that they were very happy they became a part of the group. Freshman Josh Frizzell really enjoyed himself. He said, "There were so many great activities which I thoroughly enjoyed." Rocket Club Officer Robert Riley, and Rifle Club Officer John Kunstman helped make the program successful and promoted pride and citizenship among ROTC members according to Major Rinehart and Master Sergeant Yedinak.

...ENJOY SUCCESS

Directed first semester by Mr. Gary Stout, the band had a challenging but successful year according to band members. They competed in competitions and raised a good amount of money thanks to the band boosters.

The one hundred plus members of the band received a First Division ranking at District, and a Second Division ranking at Regionals in the Marching Band contest. Mr. Stout was aided by Mike Emshwiller, the assistant director, Ron Sebben, temporary band director, and Kevin Mathis, the Color Guard instructor.

The Marching Band and Flag Team also entertained football fans during half time on the football field at all home games, and the Pep band helped to lead the Runnin' Red Devils to a sectional title by playing and raising school spirit during games throughout the season and at pep sessions. The band performed at various times during the school year and they held a banquet to recognize outstanding seniors in May.

In order to raise money to buy uniforms for the large incoming class of freshmen, the band held many fund raisers. These included car washes, a spaghetti dinner, Tag Day, a turkey and ham shoot, and a wreath sale.

It was a difficult time for the band members since Director Stout took a leave of absence during second semester and did not return for the rest of the year. Unfortunately due to the absence of a director, the concert band and the jazz band did not get to go to competition. Senior Melissa Keizer, drum major since 1991, said, "Even though we had a lot of problems this year, it turned out for the better at the end."

Along with Keizer, Junior Megan Brown and Senior Shelly Kelm, Color Guard Captains, embodied the club's purpose of "Pride, Participation, Performance." Hank Keizer, president of the Band Boosters, was a good motivator for everyone and so were the Boosters, according to Keizer.

...ROCK N' ROLL

The 110 member choral department spent their time improving their performance and increasing their musical experience. Not only did they participate in several school concerts, but they also performed at functions outside of the school including many competitions.

A Cappella choir started the year off with a blast, performing an Andrew Lloyd Webber medley at The Taste of Lowell. In October, A Cappella, Concert Choir, and Vocal Ensemble gathered for the first concert of the year with special performances by Dawn Zancan, Christine Gardner, Regina Cox, and Jen Miracle. In November, eight talented students were chosen to participate in All-State Choir. These students were Leah Bultima, Christine Gardner, Amy Wenckus, Regina Cox, Diane Wolgemuth, Michelle Bluett, Jen Miracle, and Dawn Zancan. Gardener said, "Performing in All State Choir was an experience that I'll never forget."

Preparing for their annual Christmas Concert, A Cappella President Jason Roush and Concert Choir President Kim Cornell went to work creating a live nativity scene. Swing Choir made their first appearance singing a medley of favorite Christmas tunes. A Cappella worked diligently putting together a professionally recorded demo of a variety of Christmas songs and all three choirs performed at Southlake Mall.

In January many students traveled to Lake Central High School to take part in a Solo and Ensemble Contest. Singing solos, duets and ensembles, many of the students received top ratings and qualified for the State Solo and Ensemble Contest in Indianapolis.

In the Spring, singing at the contest in Michigan City gave all the choirs the advantage of being judged by top-notch judges. Also, in May, the Swing Choir took its annual trip to perform in a competition and visited Great America.

Thriving on Sports

A GREAT YEAR IN SPORTS would well describe the athletic program at Lowell in 1993. Teams and individual students received many trophies, titles and awards and the fans were ecstatic.

In the fall, it all began with the varsity football team when they won the sectionals. Students and parents were screaming, crying, laughing and celebrating for weeks after since it was the first ever sectional win. The girls freshman volleyball team won the freshman tourney, two cross country team members competed at the state level, and the swim team sent one the football guys, acquired another sec-diver to state competition where she brought home a 9th place.

Winter settled in and the boys basketball team made a great showing throughout the season. They, like tional victory for the school and they won the first game of the regionals. The junior varsity also made a great showing with their winning season, and the freshman boys won the freshman tourney. Then the boys wrestling team won the Lake Station Invitational and had one team member who qualified for semi-state.

In the spring, the boys varsity baseball team won both the sectional and the regional competition for the first time, and girls varsity softball managed to defeat many rivals. Even the track teams were successful since the boys won the ever competitive Andean relays.

All in all in was a great year for fans and athletes. Lowell had of much to be proud.

TAKE ON TOUGH TEAMS TO WIN SECTIONALS

"Unbelievable" is a great way to describe the Lowell Red Devil '92 football season. It was a season of ups and downs, happiness and sadness, but most of all togetherness. The season started with high hopes. The players had finally adjusted to 2nd-year Coach Kirk Kennedy's system. His off season weight training and conditioning program had the players primed for their last season in the Lake Suburban conference. But a disappointing 21 to 20 loss at Rensselaer and a heart-breaking 6-0 loss to then number 1 ranked Griffith meant that a LSC championship would be difficult.

Next came Hammond Morton, who had beaten the Red Devils 19-14 in last year's sectional first-round game. However, the Devils had no trouble with the Governors handing them a 39-6 defeat. In the next LSC game, Munster escaped with a 20-14 victory. The team then headed north to Crown Point for their last meeting with the Bulldogs. Matt Mader took the opening kickoff back to start the game, but the Bulldogs took the lead late in the 4th quarter and held at 33-27. At Calumet, the guys recorded their first LSC victory with a 39-6 win. Next up was mighty Lake Central, but the night before the game, Coach Kennedy was placed in the hospital. It was obvious that the Devils weren't ready to play and were defeated 42-0. During Homecoming Weekend, the team pulled together in the second half, and late in the 4th quarter Junior Justin Hawkins broke a 50-yard run effecting a win against Highland 21-14.

The Devils took their 3 and 5 record into sectionals and in the first round took out the Governors 36-19. In the next game against Andean, Dan Hudak's first quarter field goal proved the difference as Lowell conquered 23-21. In the final game, the Munster Mustangs arrived confident of a victory, but the Devils in a great defensive and offensive line effort, took a 9-0 lead and kept it for their first ever sectional championship. Regional play began with the Hobart Brickies at the Brickie Bowl. A great first half kept it close at 14-7, but a 3rd quarter explosion and a methodical offense enabled the Brickies to coast to a 35-7 victory.

A season of ups and downs capped with a sectional championship made for a successful season. However, in the words of juniors Brian Terpstra and Justin Nestor about next year's season, "We'll be Back."

IMPROVE PERFORMANCE

"With a 4-3 record, the J.V. football team brought home a winning record. Although they only played seven games, they were instrumental in helping the varsity team. At practice, the varsity scrimaged against the J.V., which according to Junior Brian Sherwood helped prepare them for each battle. "We worked hard at every practice to give the varsity the best show we could in preparation for the Friday night game," he said.

The team had obstacles to overcome. For one, the players reported that there was no time devoted to the J.V. team strategy since practices concentrated mostly on the varsity. Also there were only 19 men on the roster and this caused them to have to play both offense and defense. But, Sherwood believed they still did well. "This team overcame the obstacles and played surprisingly well as a team," he said.

The freshmen finished the season with a disappointing 1-6 record losing to rival teams like Crown Point and Lake Central. According to Freshman Keith Carlson, the most exciting game though was against North Newton. He said, "The best game was against North Newton because for one it was the only game we won, but also because we played their J.V. team since they did not have a freshman team."

PLACE IN SECTIONALS

ADVANCE TO REGIONALS

With Sophomore Aimee DeLauro making it to the semi-state competition and placing 47th, and Senior Scott Goins advancing to regionals and placing 28th, both the boys and girls cross country teams had much to celebrate.

The girls team, according to Coach Chuck Naumowich improved all season long. He said, "As a team we placed well at the conference, and at sectionals. We placed 5th advancing to the regionals, and only fell short at regionals by a few points. Our biggest victory was the team's 1st place at the Hammond Clark Invite."

Also, many team members individually made great accomplishments. DeLauro made the 1st team at L.S.C., placed 13th at sectionals, and 8th at regionals. Senior Lynn Lammons won 10th at the conference and made the 2nd LSC team. Freshman Carrie Frank took 11th place at the conference and also made the 2nd LSC team, and Freshman Julie Moffit acquired a 23rd place in the regionals. Coach Naumowich praised all of the girls for their performances.

The boys team won 4 of their

6 regular meets, earned a 5-7 LSC record and including the invites, won 24 of 25 meets. Goins won the MVP award, All conference and the L-Club Leadership award, and Freshman Chris Nagel received the Most Improved award. Coach Bob Thomas was extremely pleased with the teams performance. He said, "The guys did a great job at the conference and meet. We finished 5th and we even had one of our runners hurt at the time. Also we have five returning lettermen for next year."

ACQUIRE EXPERIENCE STRENGTHEN SKILLS

Both the girls and boys golf teams had quite a bit of trouble with weather as several of their meets were postponed or cancelled. Despite the rain clouds, the teams enjoyed a progressive season.

Ending the season 6 and 6, the girls managed to defeat rival Kankakee Valley by eleven strokes. "We beat them big," said Coach Myers. The girls also defeated a tough Andrean team in the last meet of the season. This win was very important to the team since it allowed the girls to end the season with a .500 record. Each team member's countable score beat her opponents countable score in the match.

The boys team concluded the season with a 7 win 10 loss record and said Lake Central was the toughest team they played. In the Boone Grove Invitational tourney, the decision of a win or loss was determined by the fifth player, Junior Mark Bockstahler, who shot a season best and helped the team win the tourney and the medalist honor. According to Coach Weiand, the biggest victory of the season was against Highland. "We won by shooting our team season best, a 160," he said.

SEND SCHMIDT TO STATE BRING HOME 9TH PLACE

Both the girls and boys swim teams reported enjoying their season. They were also very proud, as was the whole school, of Diver Mindy Schmidt who made it to the state diving competition.

The boys beat North Judson in a close one 96-60 at the beginning of the season and whopped Wallace 123-53 at mid-season. They also beat North Newton and placed 9th in the Kankakee Valley Invite. Although the boys would have liked to have won more meets, they said they felt they had grown individually and improved their times and dives. Junior Guy Hendricks said, "We didn't win that many meets, but we really had a good time and made some good friends."

The girls team ended the season with an 8-8 record, placed 5th in the Kankakee Valley Invite, and 5th in the sectionals. They even placed 44th in the state meet. In the diving competition, Mindy Schmidt took many first places throughout the season and qualified for the second year in a row for state. Last year she placed 13th and then improved to 9th this year. Schmidt expressed her fear in competing at the state meet. "I was very, very, very nervous and my biggest fear was not landing my two-and-a-half." Mindy also said that the meet was really stressful because there was an emergency fire drill before she competed and the whole place had to be evacuated.

TAKE SECOND PLACE IN K.V. SECTIONALS

Led by Team Captains Lori Korte and Laura Leininger, seniors, the girls varsity volleyball team ended their season with a 10-17 record. Beginning the season with two quick losses to Wheeler and Portage, the team came back strong at the Crown Point Tourney beating a tough South Bend Adams team in the first game, and gaining a hard fought win against Pendleton Heights. Coach Annette Weiland believed that this match was the most exciting of the season. "It was the first time beating Pendleton and it was three exciting matches 6-15, 15-8. The third game had very long rallies and ended in our favor 20-18," she said.

Traveling away from home again the girls won two in a row against Kouts and Lake Station, then lost to Rensselaer at home. Running into a slump, the girls only won four of their last thirteen games; however, they recovered their speed by the time the sectionals came around. The Devils first played South Newton and won two of three 15-8 and 15-5. The girls were looking good in the game against KV, but fell in two 12-15 and 8-15. Coach Weiland said this game was the most disappointing loss of the season.

EARN WINNING SEASON

FROSH WIN KV TOURNEY

Both the J.V. volleyball team and the Freshman team had victorious seasons. Ending the with a 17-4 record, the J.V. team managed to defeat two rival teams; Crown Point and Highland respectively. "It is always great to beat Crown Point, but this year's match with Highland was the most exciting," said Coach Pete Iussig. The girls played three exciting matches with the Trojans, pulling out a hard fought victory. According to Freshman

Tammy Fejes, "Everybody tried their hardest and we pulled together to win."

One of the more interesting moments in the season in the coach's opinion occurred at Munster when Sophomore Ann Searle ran into a metal gate, split her leg open and recieved 27 stitches.

Led by new coach Jill Ford, the girls freshman team finished the season with an impressive 16-2 record and a K.V. tourney championship. Topping the statistics chart, Tracey Fisher accumulated 138 service points, 53 aces, and 31 saves, while Kristy Langen gathered 100 points, 30 aces, and 56 kills.

According to the team, the most exciting match was the one against Andean who had beaten the girls in the first match. However, the "She-Devils" in their second meeting attacked the ball better and won. Coach Ford said, "When we played them the second time, we were more mentally prepared."

HOME, WIN SECTIONALS

Boys basketball holds a special spot in Lowell and the team made a permanent spot in the history of Lowell sports. The team got out of the gates quickly going 9-0 to start the season. This run included a 52-51 victory over arch rival Hebron.

Game number 10 was against Kankakee Valley. The last time these two teams met, the Kougars won 83-79 taking the sectional title with that win. The game was close throughout, but the Devils held an 11 point lead late in the fourth quarter. A great come back by the Kougars cost the Devils and they lost 52-51. The Devils followed that loss with four consecutive wins including a victory against Crown Point. The Devils then traveled to Andrean, but Senior Jeff Dillingham and Junior Luke Shipley were injured and the Devils lost 63-50. The Devils then took their 13-2 record, 5-0 in the conference, up to Lake Central for a Lake Suburban Conference championship match up, but with Dillingham still hurt the Devils dropped the game 62-46.

The Devils next opponent was Valparaiso. The Devils kept it close throughout and Shipley's three pointer with about ten seconds left tied it up. The Vikings scored with four seconds left and the Devils called time-out. Jeff Dillingham took the in-bound pass, dribbled by two defenders and took a three pointer from 25 feet out at the buzzer. The ball bounced around the rim for three seconds and finally fell in giving the Devils a 53-52 win. The next night the Devils traveled down to North Judson and dropped a heart breaker 50-49. Merrillville was the Devils' final opponent of the regular season and the guys hung tough, but lost the game 63-56. The regular season ended with the Devils posting a 15-5 record. They then traveled to KV for sectional and defeated Hebron in the Championship game 43-39.

ATTAIN WINNING SEASON J.V. WINS 11 IN A ROW

The J.V. boys basketball team ended its season with a 13-7 record winning its first eleven games in a row. They were 13-7 overall and 4-2 in the conference. According to Coach Pete Weiland, the toughest match of the season was against Andrean. "They beat us by 16," he said. He described the Highland match as the most exciting since it was a hard fought win in an overtime. The Devils only pulled out a victory by 1 point. The game against Crown Point broke the Devils' winning streak and it was a disappointing loss. "We lost in the last few seconds by one basket," said Coach Weiland.

The freshman team won 11 of 10 games. The highlight of the season according to David Roy was the last game of the tourney against North Newton. He said, "The best game was when we were behind at the tourney and Chad Bluett nailed a 15-footer in the last second and we won by 1."

The girls varsity basketball team had a better year than they have had in a long time. They started the season off with a bang winning four in a row against Lake Station, Hebron, Kouts, and Munster. Then they lost in a close one to Rensselaer 54-48, but came back strong winning another four straight against Calumet, River Forest, Highland, and North Newton. Three disappointing losses followed in the games against Hanover, K.V., and Crown Point, but the girls managed to take first place in the North Newton Tourney. In the first game of the sectionals, they suffered another disappointing loss to Rensselaer 28-44 ending the season however with a winning record.

The girls really enjoyed new Coach Patty McCormick. Junior Liz Felder said, "She is a great coach. She works us hard, but she is fair and we know she knows what is best for us." Junior Gina Lorenz also was happy with the girls season and with the new coach. "Miss McCormick was great. She knows what she is doing and that is why we won so many games," she said.

PLAY TOUGH TEAMS GAIN EXPERIENCE

Both the girls junior varsity and freshmen teams gained valuable experience during the season. The J.V. team won 10 of its games while the freshmen won 5 of 13.

Starting off the year with a game against Lake Station at home, the J.V. squad won 23 to 10 in an easy game. Next they traveled to Hebron where they suffered their first loss in a close one 29-32. Midway through the season, the girls participated in the K.V. Tourney winning the first game against Griffith and losing the second by 2. Freshman Player Tammy Fejes thought it was a good year. She said the team worked well together, and they all had a great time and learned a lot.

Led by new Coach Jill Ford, the freshmen seemed to have a tough time getting started, but improved as the season went along. They were the runners-up in the K.V. tournament and played their finest ball in the finals according to Coach Ford. "Our best game was one that we actually lost. We played against K.V. in the freshman tournament. The girls played with so much heart and hustle, they really clicked and came together as a team. It was heart breaking game since we lost by only 3 points."

CHEERLEADER'S

RAISE SCHOOL SPIRIT MOTIVATE ATHLETES

Drumming up school spirit was not as difficult for the cheerleaders this year with all the success in sports. The girls had an exciting year with the win of the football and basketball sectionals, but they were busy doing other things as well.

The girls began the year attending Ball State University Cheerleading Camp in July where they learned new yells, routines, and stunts. During competition, they were complemented for their spirit. In the fall and winter, the squad of six spent much time planning pep sessions and decorating the halls. Then in the spring, they held workshops for the little kids, aspiring to be cheerleaders, in grades two through eight. They had about 200 hundred children in the program.

According to Junior Jaime Hardesty, it was a great year. "I thought it was a lot of fun because we went to the sectionals in two sports. I was proud of the boys and thought they worked well together against some really tough competition."

Both the junior varsity cheerleaders and the freshmen cheerleaders had a busy year raising school spirit and trying to raise money for cheerleading workshops and new uniforms.

The junior varsity squad cheered at all J.V. football and basketball games and also helped the varsity squad cheer at varsity games. In the summer the girls held a workshop along with the other squads for aspiring cheerleaders in the elementary grades. During the summer league, they aided the coaches by keeping statistics, taking money at the gates, and keeping the scoreboards. Junior Shawna Cales thought the year was a good one. She said, "We grew closer together and our friendships grew. We worked well together."

The freshman squad also helped at the cheerleading workshop and during summer league, and they cheered at all freshman basketball and football games.

The Varsity Wrestling Team finished its season on a winning note by ending with a 14-11 overall record. This was the team's best record since 1983.

During the season the team captured many honors, including a Lake Station Invitational Championship and runner-up of their home invitational. The Lake Station Championship was its first tourney championship since 1983. The team also went 6-3 in the Lake Suburban Conference while defeating Crown Point for the first time since 1977.

The wrestlers captured many individual honors with eleven Regional qualifiers and one Semi-State qualifier. Five students, Sophomores Adam and Eric Ping, Juniors Carson Shadowen and Brian Swisher, and Senior Matt Eaton all enjoyed twenty or more season victories. Senior captains Nick Krapf, Travis Cross, and Matt Eaton provided the necessary leadership throughout the season. Matt Eaton earned the L-Club Leadership Award, Adam Ping won the Most Improved Award, and Brian Swisher was chosen as the Most Valuable.

Taking fourth place all around in the sectionals, the girls gymnastics team took a 1st on the vault, 2nd place on the bars, a 3rd in floor exercise, and a 4th on the floor and the bars.

Although the girls lost their first three meets against Merrillville, Chesterton, and Valparaiso, the scores were quite close at 89.9-104.9, 91.6-107.6, and 93.3-108.9 respectively. During the first meet in February, the team won a close one against Laporte 93.7 to 92.4. Then, traveling to the Lafayette Jefferson Invitational, they came away with an 8th place out of 13. Next, the gymnasts lost to Portage and Hobart, but came back strong in the next meet, which was against rival Crown Point, and won 96.1-69.5. "Beating Crown Point was the best," said Junior Lu Parrish. She also said the team had the best year they have ever had and won a meet for the first time in Lowell history.

Individually, Freshman Terri-

Ann Bunchek brought home several first places. During the Portage meet, she took a 1st on the unevens with a score of 9.7, and also in the Chesterton meet with a score of 9.6. Other team members who placed individually included Parrish who took a 1st on the bars at the LaPorte meet, Freshman Jackie Hall, who won a 1st on the vault at the Laporte meet, and Freshman Erica Feddeler captured a 3rd place on the vault at the Portage meet.

PLACE 2ND IN SECTIONAL TAKE 3RD IN CONFERENCE

Placing 2nd in the sectionals and fifth in the conference, the boys tennis team finished the season with a 11-7 overall record. Coach Pete Weiland believed this team was one of the finest. He said, "This tennis team was the best team Lowell has put on the tennis courts. They worked very hard and deserve recognition. They competed with every top team in the area and three of their losses came in the 3rd set of the last match."

The Devils had never before beaten Merrillville until this year and it was quite an exciting match. It all came down to the #2 doubles match. All of the other matches were over and everyone else on the team watched Juniors Neil Blankenship and Guy Hendricks. They won the first set 6-4, lost the second 2-6 and then pounded the Pirates 6-2 in the third set for the biggest team victory of the season.

Highland replaced Crown Point as the biggest rival since the Devils had two very disappointing losses to them. They lost to Highland in a regular season competition and all the matches went to 3 sets. Then in the sectional finals they came up against Highland again and were ahead in both matches, but lost in the end coming in 2nd.

Senior Dan Funston went on to regionals and won two matches. He was also chosen as the most valuable player and took All Conference. Senior Jeff Funston made the second team and Senior Clayton Doty won the L-Club Leadership award.

PRODUCE BEST SEASON
PLACE 5TH IN CONFERENCE

The girls tennis program turned around this year according to Coach Downey. She said that last year the team only won 3 matches and this year it won 9 of its 15 matches and placed 5th in the Lake Suburban conference. The sectional match against Highland was very exciting since it was the first time in many years, perhaps ever, that a Lowell girls' tennis team advanced beyond sectionals.

Even though the team did not win, Senior Laura Leininger and Sophomore Leslie Bruce, the number 1 doubles team, advanced to regional play. Also, 3 of the 5 matches in the sectional went to 3 sets.

During the regular season playing against Highland, Sophomore Allison Heniff was extraordinary according to Coach Downey. She said, "Allison hit herself in the mouth with her racquet while going for an overhead. She shattered one of her front teeth. This happened in game 3 of the first set and she refused to quit. She ended up winning 1-6, 7-5, and 7-5.

Even though the girls lost to Crown Point, they felt a great moral victory because they took 2 of the 5 matches. This was the first time Lowell had won any matches against Crown Point. All in all it was a very good season.

TAKE ANDREAN RELAYS WIN LOWELL RELAYS TOO

Winning the Andrean Relays for the first time and the Lowell Relays for the second year in a row, the boys track team ended the season with an exceptional 24-4 record. The guys began the season with a bang defeating their first five opponents; Lake Station, Kouts, Hebron, Calumet, and Griffith. Then they came in second in a meet against K.V. and North Newton losing by only 10 points to a tough K.V. team. The team then came back and defeated Munster, Rensselaer, North Newton and Highland, but suffered a loss to rival Crown Point.

In the Gary Roosevelt sectional, the tracksters placed 11th out of 12 teams; however, Senior Matt Mader made a great 6'3 high jump placing 1st. He then went on to regionals and placed 3rd, and then took 12th in the state competition. Coach Mark Line was pleased with the team's performance. He said, "The entire season was enjoyable and exciting."

During the awards banquet, Senior Matt Mader won the MVP award, while Senior Scott Goins took the L-Club Leadership award, and Juniors Ron Palmer and Paul Lacy shared Most Improved. The "Freshman of the Year" award went to Joe Fogleman.

TRACKSTERS TAKE 4TH IN CONFERENCE AND ANDREAN INVITATIONAL

With 11 wins and 6 losses, the girls track team placed 4th in the Lake Suburban Conference. Two team members, juniors Gina Lorenz and Angela Robinson, were conference champs. Lorenz won in the long jump and Robinson won in the high jump.

The season began with four wins in a row against Kouts, Hebron, Calumet and Griffith. In the Calumet/Griffith meet, the Devils scored 101 team points to the other team's 27 and 17 respectively. Next, the team traveled to Kankakee Valley, where unfortunately they were defeated 41-96. They came back strong after their defeat and beat the next five teams in a row during the middle of the season. Coach Naumowich thought the Rensselaer meet was the most exciting. "We needed to win the mile relay (the last event) to win the meet, and we did," he said.

In the Andean Invitational as a team, the girls placed 4th out of 7 teams, but Robinson and Freshman Carrie Frank took a 1st in the high jump, while Lorenz and Freshman Shelley Knight took 1st place in the long jump.

OUTWIT OPPOSITION GRAB WINNING SEASON

"For the first time ever, the varsity softball team reached double digits in victories ending the season 11-11, and it also placed 5th in the conference. The girls beat state ranked Valparaiso, a strong Munster team, Highland and Griffith. In the second game against Highland the girls fought hard to beat them after their defeat earlier in the season. Coach Iussig was very pleased with the girls performance in the second Highland game. He said, "We came close to playing a perfect game. Coach Iussig also said, "Lori Korte and Kasey Matson did a fine job of pitching and were backed up by an outstanding defensive team effort."

The junior varsity team brought home a 14-4 record and managed to beat Crown Point twice; both times in the last inning. In the first Crown Point game the team was down by six runs. In the last inning the Devils tied the game and ended up winning by 3. The second game was closer as the team only took the victory by 1. Coach Langen thought the teams biggest victory was against Lake Central. He said, "We came back in the second game and really played great and won 4-2."

WIN FIRST REGIONAL TITLE SEIZE THIRD SECTIONAL

The varsity baseball team won the sectional making it three major sport sectional wins for the Lowell athletic program, and the regional title for the first time in Lowell history. At Kankakee Valley the boys beat Hebron easily 9 to 2 and then met with Boone Grove and defeated them 6 to 2. Even the final game didn't give the Devils much trouble as they came a way with a 11-7 win for the championship title. During regional play the team upset defending state champs LaPorte 2-1 and smoked Valparaiso 8-3.

During the regular season, the guys ended with a record of 18 wins and only 9 losses. According to Coach Kent Hess, one of the season highlights was the win against Crown Point on their home field. He said, "Not only did we beat our geographic rival, but the victory put us in a tie for first place in the conference. The game went back and forth the whole time." During the last four innings of the Crown Point game the score was 2-0, then 2-4, then 5-4, next 5-5, and finally 6-5. Unfortunately the loss to Lake Central placed the team in second place.

Senior Mike Bielefeld said winning the regional was a rush. "It was the greatest feeling I ever had...even better than at the basketball sectional."

BRING ABOUT ACTION FILLED SPRING SEASON

Junior varsity baseball players enjoyed a victorious season winning half of their games and beating such rivals as Crown Point, Munster, and North Newton. The season began with a close loss to Andrean 5-7, but the Devils came back and won the next two against North Newton and Crown Point 11-0 and 9-5 respectively. Although during the mid-season the team suffered several losses in a row, they came back strong at the end winning their last six games in a row and winning the Rensselaer tournament. Sophomore Ken Yuhasz was very pleased with the teams performance during the tournament. He said, "Everybody played great and we had like only one error all day."

The freshmen team ended with a 13-5-1 record. The tie game was against Kankakee Valley and went eleven innings ending with a 1-1 score. The team also beat many rival teams throughout the season including Munster, Rensselaer, Lake Central, Griffith, and Crown Point. Coach Mike Magley was very happy about the success of his team. "All the team members contributed to the team with effort, dedication and hard work," he said.

ENTERTAIN AUDIENCE

Creating routines, choosing music, and performing for sports fans kept the Devils and the Flag Team busy. Both groups entertained at half-time during sporting events.

The Devils, lead by sponsor Mrs. Carla Denton, performed at varsity boys and girls basketball games. They chose their own music and with the help of Mrs. Denton and Sue Chermah, they choreographed dance routines to go with the music chosen by the girls. The squad dressed in red and black checkered shorts and white and red t-shirts.

The Flag Team, also known as the Color Guard performed with the band during half-time at the varsity football games and during marching band competitions held on Saturdays during the fall.

Junior Megan Brown felt that the girls helped the band during competition. She said, "We were an asset to the band and we showed the band off." In the winter, the Winter Guard performed at J.V. basketball games during half-time. Choreographer Kevin Mathis planned routines and helped the girls train for competition with the band.

Thriving on CLASSES

Offering a variety of courses, the high school curriculum had something for everyone. Whether students were on a college track, technical school track, or planned to enter the job market upon graduation, classes were available for all.

The Social Studies Department offered the required courses in United States and world history including government, but provided classes in sociology and psychology as well. The English Department worked in conjunction with social studies as Mrs. Hurt and Mrs. Myers joined together to teach a humanities class at the sophomore level. This class incorporated history and literature as an interdisciplinary unit. The English Department offered its usual required classes plus drama and speech, and technical education offered students classes in electronics, drafting, woods, and small engine repair. Also, the vocational auto courses prepared students to nuclear energy. Foreign language prepared students to live in a global world with various cultures and languages and the arts helped complete major projects in many classes. The freshmen got a taste of what it is like to be a high school student and what was expected of them academically. Most rose to the occasion and worked diligently to maintain passing grades.

Some students demanded much of themselves as they aimed for the honor roll each six weeks. Others were concerned with grade point averages and class ranking, hoping to win scholarships or acceptance to the college of their choice. Some students chose not to take a lunch break or study hall in order to fit in one more class. The pressure was on and it was difficult to keep up with attending classes, completing projects, and studying for tests, but students were learning and preparing for their futures and thriving on the chaos.

become mechanics, while business classes helped all levels of students in keyboarding skills, computer programing, accounting, and bookkeeping. Health and physical education showed students how to maintain a healthy life-style, while science classes taught students everything from simple experiments with basic chemicals to the complex analysis of students to develop their creative abilities in music, dance, drama, and graphic art.

Since students spent most of their time in the classroom, library, computer lab or doing homework, academics played a major role in their lives. Juggling study time for five or six subjects a day was quite stressful to students, especially for seniors who were required to

PAST & PRESENT

The Social Studies Department, headed by Mrs. Margaret Hurt, had an exciting year. The department included classes such as Geography, World History, U.S. History, Humanities, Psychology, Sociology, Economics, Current Affairs, and Government. One of the highlights of the year was a department project centered around the Presidential election. "One activity that our department as a whole was involved with was the student Presidential Election in November. The use of the voting machines was a learning experience and fun as well," said Mrs. Hurt. Another highlight was the addition of the humanities class taught by Mrs. Hurt and Mrs. Myers. The class went on a field trip to the Field Museum and the Art Institute and simulated the trial of a character from the play Othello. In the Geography classes, students had the opportunity to create culture booklets. In Mr. Chuck Naumowich's Psychology classes, students had an extensive unit on abnormal psychology and read One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest and watched the movie.

Led by Mrs. Mary Cusic, the English Department had an interesting year and it had two new faculty additions, Mrs. Hawkins and Mrs. Overbeeke. Mrs. Overbeeke's freshman classes completed artistic projects on the book To Kill A Mockingbird, and her junior classes completed research papers in a step-by-step process. Mrs. Hawkins's seniors created and composed a poetry booklet including original poetry and art, and also produced a modern version of Canterbury Tales. Speech students in Mr. Barlowe's class participated in the Rotary Speech Contest. The trial of the humanities class, ran by Mrs. Sherry Myers and Mrs. Hurt, participated in a Greek breakfast to highlight the study of the Greeks. Among these exciting activities Mrs. Riggle's intermediate and basic English 11 classes created parodies over fairy tales and also completed a research project over careers. Mrs. McClellan's students in sophomore English created projects over Julius Caesar. Adding spice to the department was Miss Engle's drama class which created a videotape for American Education Week that aired on Channel One. Mrs. Myers's English 9 students created a simulation of a raft as they read The Raft. Also, Mrs. Cusic seniors held debates over gays in the military and completed extensive research projects.

Technical Education and Business Departments Prepare Students for those Careers of Tommorrow in THE REAL WORLD

The Business Department and the Technical Education Department are two important curriculums available to students. These classes prepare students for the real world by teaching them the skills and techniques that will be necessary for getting ahead in college and in the future job market.

The Business Department was headed by Miss Pat Nemeth. Mrs. Phyllis Cunningham, Mrs. Nancy Reyes, and Mrs. Kathy Nelson, along with Miss Nemeth, taught a variety of classes including keyboarding, accounting, and business law. These classes were designed to prepare students for the highly competitive world of business. Students were involved in a number of hands on projects including a computerized accounting project, and a project which enabled students to start their own business. Also, Mrs. Nelson's business law class took a trip to the Lake County Court House to observe a trial, and Mrs. Reyes's classes made a video for Business Education Week. Miss. Nemeth said, " It has been an extremely successful year ."

The Technical Education department offered students a variety of classes which gave them hands on experience and prepared them for the future. The teachers in the department included Jerry Cameron- graphic communications, James Cane- metals Manufacturing and Drafting, Robert Thomas- woods manufacturing, and Department Chairman Robert Kussy- transportation Technology and electronics. Mr. Cameron's graphic arts classes printed most of the forms, letterheads, etc. used in the Tri-Creek School Corporation. Metals students designed and built an exploding bank powered by a mousetrap. Woods students helped LHS by building stage props for the play and benches for the athletic department. Transportation students were especially busy in lab repairing small engines and doing basic maintenance to the cars. As Mr. Kussy stated, "The Tech Ed department specializes in individual instruction and meeting students needs by offering practical 'Hands On' education."

Math and Science Departments Prepare Students for the Future in a World of Technological ADVANCEMENT

Students taking science and math courses had many opportunities for new and exciting experiences. Science students studied chemistry, biology and physics while the math students took courses in algebra, geometry, trigonometry and calculus.

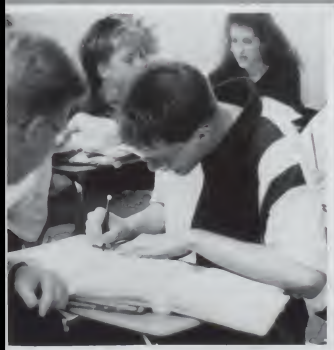

The science department, headed by Mrs. Sue McQuiston, went to the Genetics Update Conference at Indiana University Northwest and brought back updated information for students in biology at the beginning of the year. Also, Mr. Beeching's advanced biology class traveled to Barden's Animal Hospital and witnessed the neutering of a dog. In addition to watching a surgical procedure, students in biology and life science performed their own surgery as they dissected a variety of animals.

One science department member Mr. Bill Weiland, retired at the end of the school year. Mrs. McQuiston expressed sorrow about his retirement. She said, "The science department will miss Bill Weiland. He has been a valuable asset to the science department for many years."

The mathematics department received new books and took placement tests from Purdue University. All calculus students took the Advanced Placement Calculus test in hopes of earning college credit for the course. Also the algebra, trigonometry, and calculus classes were tested by Purdue University and some students managed to earn recognition and college credit. Mr. Larry Owenga believed that the Advanced Placement Calculus class went quite well. "The math department has completed its transition to include an AP calculus course and has taken steps to improve students readiness for the calculus course," he said.

Health and Physical Education Classes Help Students Discover and Practice Avenues for a HAPPY, LONGER LIFE

Health and physical education classes spent much of the time teaching students how to live a healthy life.

The health curriculum covered such topics as drugs and alcohol, teenage pregnancy, child abuse, sexually transmitted diseases, AIDS, and first aid.

Students created poster boards and made up their own themes for the drug and alcohol unit and did research in the library over child abuse. Students also studied case histories of abused children and watched movies and documentaries on the subject. During lessons pertaining to first aid, students were presented with simulated situations and they had to explain what to do to help the injured or ill victims. Also an emergency medical technician spoke to the classes about CPR and demonstrated how it is used. Sophomore Chris Crepeau said he liked one unit in particular. "I liked studying about AIDS and STDs because it helped us to understand how not to get in these situations.

The physical education teachers incorporated a variety of activities to help students maintain physical health and well being. A guest speaker spoke to the freshman classes about Step-aerobics prior to a step-aerobics unit. Later in the year a body builder talked to the advanced classes about weight lifting and training. The weight lifting class was a big success as many athletes enrolled in it and seemed to enjoy it very much. Jason Bruns said, "It was a great class that gave me the opportunity to better my muscle tone and to help my cardiovascular fitness. Advanced students also left campus and bowled at the local alley.

Classes offered in the physical education department included Freshman P.E., Advanced P.E. and Fitness and Weight Training. The department also acquired two new teachers this year, Ms. Patty McCormick, and Ms. Jill Ford who both coached women's sports.

Art Department, Home Ec, and Special Education Classes provide Opportunities for Students to Just

ENJOY LEARNING

The art, home economics and special education departments spent much of their time teaching students through rewarding and enjoyable activities.

The student in beginning art learned to produce abstract drawings and paintings, portraits of people, and they learned much about shading and color scheme. The students also created their own comic strips. "It took a lot of time but it was fun," said Junior Jason Zimmerman. The advanced art students painted a large facial portrait, designed and illustrated a calendar, and they also did self-portraits. "The portraits were the most enjoyable. I did Van Gogh and it helped me learn impressionism," said Junior Doug Snell.

Students in the home economics survey class learned general cooking and sewing skills. Senior Emily Brown enjoyed the class. She said, "We made sweatshirts and personalized them. It was fun." The Foods for Nutrition class planned meals, learned to set the table and designed their own cookbook. Junior Steve Haney thought it was a worthwhile project. He said, "It was a long project, but I learned something."

"Let me win, and if I cannot win, let me be brave in the attempt." That was the Special Olympian pledge of the Tri-Creek delegation of 14 student athletes. Special Education students attended the Special Olympics in Portage and competed in track and field events. Many of the students advanced to state. Also they went to a banquet held at D.C. Country Junction in their honor. Student Athlete said, "It was a fun year because of the new friends we met." In February the students went to the Pines in Valparaiso and tried sledding on an innertube.

Foreign Language Department Teaches Students French and Spanish in Preparation for GLOBAL COMMUNITIES

The Foreign Language department kept its students very busy with a wide variety of activities. Both French and Spanish students were offered four years of enrichment in a foreign culture.

The French Department, headed by Madame Carter, provided first and second year students many opportunities to practice their language skills while third and fourth year French students experienced a variety of aspects of French culture. For example, the students did oral reports on French impressionists in front of other class mates and a portion of their semester grade was determined by their performances. Also, every Wednesday the classes participated in NFC day. French Club President Shelly Kelm, senior, said "We participated in 'NFC Day', and no, that doesn't stand for No French Class." The actual meaning of "NFC" is National French Contest. Students were required to compete with one another in their ability to understand the French language both by listening and reading it, and their knowledge of the culture was also examined.

In the Spanish Department, headed by Mrs. Mills, students in second year Spanish spent the year doing situational skits and prepared authentic Hispanic dishes. Third year students prepared and video taped a newscast in Spanish and prepared authentic Hispanic dishes which were sampled during a carry-in dinner. Fourth year students spent four weeks studying the lives and works of Spain's greatest painters. These students concluded their Spanish educational careers with a field trip to an authentic Mexican restaurant. Mrs. Mills was happy that more students enrolled in foreign language classes. She said, "As we become more aware of the fact that we live in a global community, the need to not just study but to become proficient in other languages becomes apparent."

Thriving on People

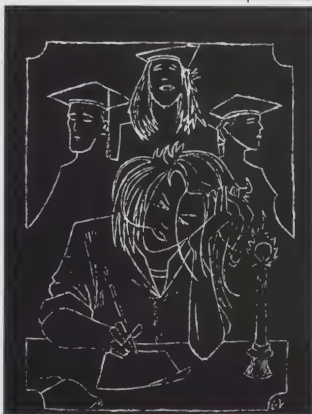

Just as each class had its own personality, so did each individual within each class. For the seniors, some were "cruzing" through the year with little problem, just waiting for the whole thing to be over. Others were working diligently to maintain high grade point averages in hopes of college acceptance or scholarships, while some were working toward those last few necessary credits hoping they would be able to graduate. Attitudes varied as well. Some were fearful of leaving the security of the high school environment and some were looking forward to it. Even a few were so anxious to move on to something else that they graduated at mid-term.

The junior class was busy planning for the big spring event; prom. Many hours went into was a pleasant thought for most.

The sophomores

developing the theme and the decorations for the event. Also, the juniors too were anxiously waiting for the end of the year. Knowing that they only had one more year to go and that they would be the head class next year returned to the building in the fall with more confidence. Having the difficult freshman year over with, they felt that they too belonged to the school. The class planned and sponsored the traditional Christmas dance and began raising money for next year's prom.

Being in a new environment and being considered the underdog made being a freshman difficult. At the beginning of the year, the youngest ones in the school continually got lost in the big, round, confusing building with all of its identical pods. However, as the year wore on, the group became more and more comfortable and they managed to make friends with students in other classes. They were still shy, especially at pep sessions when they could barely be heard over the roar of the seniors and juniors, but they acclimated themselves to a new situation very well. They too were THRIVING ON CHAOS.

The senior class prepared itself for the major event of graduation throughout the year. Without the stress of raising money for prom, the class dedicated itself to planning a terrific graduation celebration. School spirit was evident since the seniors won the most spirited award during Homecoming, football sectional and basketball sectional weeks. The last few weeks of school were very special as class members enjoyed their last memories as high schoolers.

THE FACULTY LOOK

In addition to the regular duties involved in education, the faculty and administration kept very busy working on goals and strategies for school improvement. All teachers were on at least two committees; one core area and one curriculum. After compiling data from parent, student, and faculty surveys, the committees determined the strengths and weaknesses of the school. Next, they set goals to improve those areas deemed to be weak and then set strategies to meet those goals. These strategies were to be implemented in the future.

Thriving on Chaos

AT FIRST GLANCE, AN OUTSIDER ENTERING OUR SCHOOL MIGHT DESCRIBE THE ATMOSPHERE AS UTTER CHAOS WITH THE AMOUNT OF NOISE THAT PASSED BETWEEN THE ROOMS WITHOUT WALLS, BUT OVER THE YEARS WE HAD ADAPTED TO THE OPENNESS AND LEARNED TO APPRECIATE ITS ATTRIBUTES. STUDENTS COULD BE SEEN IN THE COMMONS AREAS THROUGHOUT THE DAY OR IN THE LITTLE THEATER WORKING ON CLASS PROJECTS, AND MR. BARLOW'S LECTURE IN ENGLISH CLASS WAS OFTEN HEARD BY STUDENTS NOT IN HIS CLASS, BUT THE CHAOS WAS ORGANIZED AND WE WERE LEARNING, SOCIALIZING, AND PARTICIPATING IN ALL OUR SCHOOL HAD TO OFFER. IN OTHER WORDS, WE WERE THRIVING ON THE CHAOS.

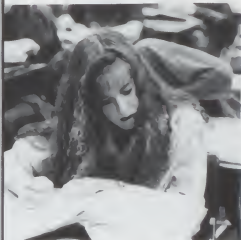

SENIORS DIANE WOLGEMUTH AND JIM SUGGS CELEBRATE THEIR AWARD AFTER BEING CHOSEN AS "MOST HUMOROUS" BY THEIR CLASSMATES. THE SENIORS VOTED FOR THEIR FAVORITES IN FEBRUARY.

HOW DID YOU THRIVE ON A LIFE FULL OF CHAOS?

"I KEPT REALLY BUSY WITH SCHOOL ACTIVITIES AND A LOT OF HARD CLASSES, LEARNED HUNGARIAN IN MY SPARE TIME AND PARTIED TOO. MY LIFE WAS DEFINITELY CHAOTIC, BUT I LIKE IT THAT WAY. OTHERWISE LIFE IS BORING."

JOANNA CSEPIGA,
JUNIOR

"MY YEAR WAS VERY CHAOTIC BECAUSE I WAS ALWAYS GETTING IN TROUBLE WITH MR. KOGER FOR THINGS I NEVER DID. (Ha Ha Ha) I THRIVED ON THIS CHAOS BECAUSE THAT'S JUST THE KIND OF GUY I AM." MATT SCHARA, SOPHOMORE

"THIS YEAR WAS VERY CHAOTIC BECAUSE WE WON THE SECTIONALS IN BOTH FOOTBALL AND BASKETBALL AND THE REGIONAL IN BASEBALL, AND EVERYONE WAS HYPED! I THRIVED ON THE CHAOS THROUGHOUT THE YEAR BY SHAVING MY HEAD." BRIAN SWISHER, JUNIOR

Thriving on

Chaos

IT WAS FINALLY OVER, AND IT HAD BEEN A REALLY TRYING YEAR. SOMETIMES WE WONDERED IF THERE WOULD EVER BE A TIME TO REST, A TIME JUST TO DO NOTHING. SLEEP WAS SOMETHING WE SELDOM FOUND TIME FOR BETWEEN THE STUDYING, THE SPORTS, THE CLUBS AND THE PARTYING. BUT IT WAS NOT ONE OF OUR PRIORITIES. SPENDING TIME WITH SPECIAL FRIENDS, MAKING THE GRADES, AND HAVING A GOOD TIME WERE MUCH MORE IMPORTANT THAN SLEEP. AFTER ALL WE HAD THE REST OF OUR LIVES TO REST, OR SO WE THOUGHT. WE WANTED TO ENJOY OUR CRAZY, CHAOTIC HIGH SCHOOL YEARS, AND PREVENT OUR YOUTHFUL YEARS FROM ENDING BEFORE THEIR TIME. WE THRIVED ON THE CHAOS.

FRESHMEN SHELLEY KNIGHT AND JAIMIE LOCKHEART LAUGH ABOUT HOW GROSS IT IS TO DISSECT A FISH IN MRS. MCQUISTON'S BIOLOGY CLASS.

HOW DID YOU THRIVE ON A LIFE FULL OF CHAOS?

"PLANNING PEP SESSIONS, FOOTBALL AND BASKETBALL PARTIES AT MY HOUSE KEPT ME BUSY, BUT I BECAME MORE INDEPENDENT AND I LEARNED HOW TO PLAN THINGS AND WORK WITH OTHER PEOPLE TO GET THINGS DONE." BRANDEE BORGREN, JUNIOR

"IT WAS REALLY BUSY WITH CHEERLEADING AND ALL THE SECTIONAL GAMES, PLUS THE LAST SEMESTER TERM PAPER, BUT I HAD A LOT OF FUN AND MADE A LOT OF GOOD MEMORIES." BRANDY ROSENTHAL, SENIOR

"I DID A LOT OF RUNNING AROUND AND I WAS BUSY WITH SPORTS AND ACTIVITIES. I THINK I LEARNED TO BE A MORE RESPONSIBLE PERSON AND HANDLE RESPONSIBILITY BETTER." JOSEPHINE BANKS, SENIOR

SENIOR BARB BAKER AND HER DATE FROM ANOTHER SCHOOL TAKE A BREAK FROM THE DANCING AND ENJOY WATCHING FRIENDS MOVE TO THE TUNES.

Editorial Note

This is a very unique editor's note because it is written by the advisor who most of the time was the editor, the reporter, the photographer, and the designer of this book. Somehow it seemed dishonest to have a student write this as if the book was all student work. I had help from students, but our staff was so small that the majority of the work fell on me. This was honestly the hardest thing I've ever done, and as I sit here finishing the last page at 4:15 A.M. the night before the deadline, I have tears running down my face. Some are tears of relief, but mostly they are tears of pride and a sense of accomplishment. Kristin Bardwell, the real editor, deserves my thanks. She was so very responsible and dependable. You are appreciated Kristin. Also, thanks to Susan Taylor for all of her support, and to Gíolas for the great pictures and the pep talks, and to Ruth Bougie, Carla Denton, and Marlene Jerzyk for the numerous tasks they helped me with. Also, to my freshman and junior English classes for identifying the people in the pictures, to the Lowell Tribune for sharing photos, and to Dr. Yeoman and Mr. Gould for the computer and laser printer. But most of all, I thank my family for being so understanding. Remember, next year Lowell will have a class, and I intend to advise only. It's up to you students from now on. We're in the "black" and ready to go!

Rhonda Overbeeke, advisor

COLOPHON: THE 586 COPIES OF THE 92-93 LOWELLIAN WERE PUBLISHED BY HERFF JONES YEARBOOK COMPANY. THE TYPEFACE USED WAS HELVETICA. THE COVER WAS DESIGNED BY FOREIGN EXCHANGE STUDENT RUTH OPIE AND THE ARTWORK ON THE DIVISION PAGES WAS COMPLETED BY MRS. ANDREWS-ADVANCED ART CLASS. THE SENIOR CLASS PHOTOGRAPHS WERE TAKEN BY GÍOLAS AS WERE MANY OF THE SPECIAL EVENTS PICTURES.

The first part of the paper discusses the importance of the research and the objectives of the study. It then presents a literature review of the existing research on the topic. The second part of the paper describes the methodology used in the study, including the data collection and analysis techniques. The third part of the paper presents the results of the study, and the fourth part discusses the implications of the findings. The paper concludes with a summary of the main findings and a list of references.

The research was conducted in a systematic and rigorous manner, following the principles of good research practice. The data was collected from a representative sample of the population, and the analysis was carried out using appropriate statistical methods. The results of the study are presented in a clear and concise manner, and the implications of the findings are discussed in detail. The paper is well written and easy to read, and it provides a valuable contribution to the field of research.

The findings of the study have important implications for the field of research, and they provide a basis for further research. The research has shown that there is a need for more research in this area, and it has identified some of the key areas for future research. The research has also shown that there are some important factors that influence the results of the study, and it has provided some suggestions for how these factors can be controlled in future research.

The research has been carried out in a transparent and open manner, and the results of the study are available to the public. The research has been peer reviewed, and it has been published in a reputable journal.
